MEET THE TEAM

BIG IDEA

We are selling confidence and belonging by inviting the community to build the future together.

More specifically:

Adults are invited to realize their talents matter.

Students are shown their gifts are worth developing.

The community sees itself reflected in the school, and the future of Rondo.

This is not “volunteering to help a school.”

This is bridging generations to build identity, pride, and opportunity.

THE INSIGHT

People want to help....but:

- Don't know how
- Don't feel qualified
- Too much time commitment

People aren't lacking care, they're lacking confidence

Target Audiences

- The Rondo Community

- The UST Community

- Maxfield Parents

- Maxfield Students

Know: What enrichment clusters are and the benefits of enrichment clusters.

Think: Enrichment clusters are beneficial to the future of Rondo.

Do: Lead an enrichment cluster.

RONDO PROBLEM STATEMENT

Because specialists in the Rondo Community are not being informed about the enrichment clusters at Maxfield Elementary School, there is a lack of leadership to support and teach these programs, resulting in students missing out on valuable learning opportunities.

Know: What enrichment clusters are and the benefits of enrichment clusters.

Think: Enrichment clusters are beneficial to me and my resume.

Do: Lead an enrichment cluster.

UST PROBLEM STATEMENT

Because UST students and professors are not being informed about the enrichment clusters at Maxfield Elementary School, there is a shortage of leaders to help teach them, resulting in students missing out on important opportunities.

Know: What enrichment clusters are and the benefits of enrichment clusters.

Think: Enrichment clusters are beneficial to my student.

Do: Lead an enrichment cluster.

PARENT PROBLEM STATEMENT

Because parents at Maxfield Elementary School are not receiving adequate information about enrichment clusters, their children may feel disconnected from the school community, ultimately leading to a diminished sense of cultural identity within the school.

Know: What enrichment clusters are and the benefits of enrichment clusters.

Think: Enrichment clusters are fun and make me excited to attend school.

Do: Participate in an enrichment cluster.

STUDENT PROBLEM STATEMENT

Because there are not enough leaders for enrichment clusters at Maxfield Elementary School, students are not able to participate as often, limiting attendance and engagement, which may lead to a diminished sense of connection and cultural identity within the school community.

CAMPAIGN THEME

BRIDGES & BUILDING

Beneficial-Opportunity-Common Good-Hope-Fulfillment

BRIDGING BRIGHTER FUTURES

- Enrichment clusters help students discover new skills, passions, and opportunities.
- Leaders help “bridge” students to brighter futures through mentorship and experiences.
- The bridge theme represents connecting our school and community together.
- It also honors the Rondo Community, which was deeply impacted when the I-94 construction divided neighborhoods, homes, and local businesses.
- Our campaign is a symbol of bringing people back together, rebuilding connections, and creating opportunities for the next generation.
- Together, we can help bridge gaps and build a stronger future for students.

SMART GOAL

By the end of the campaign launch period, recruit a minimum of three new Enrichment Leaders from the Rondo community, the University of St. Thomas, and Maxfield parents through all promotional materials including postcard distribution, flyers, posters, trifold brochures, menu ads, billboards, spoken copy and social media outreach measured by the number of completed sign ups received through the QR scans.

OBJECTIVES OVERVIEW

MAXFIELD ELEMENTARY IS WHERE RONDO SHINES.

MAXFIELD ELEMENTARY SCHOOL
380 VICTORIA ST N, ST. PAUL, MINNESOTA

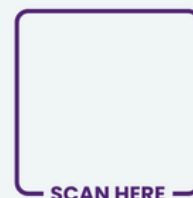

MAXFIELD NEEDS YOU IN THE ROOM.

As a Rondo Enrichment Leader at Maxfield Elementary, you can bridge the gap between what kids learn in class and what they discover about themselves.

You lead a one-hour hands-on session at Maxfield Elementary for 3rd-5th graders, no teaching background needed.

Share something you love
— clay, painting, building, anything hands-on — and give Rondo's kids an experience no curriculum ever could.

Maxfield Elementary needs you. The sense of community in Rondo has been split before and at Maxfield we can see it in the children. We want to bridge our community back again through our Enrichment Cluster program where adults lead students in teaching their talent of step, theater, cooking, or whatever you're the king/queen of. This program gives the students an opportunity to express their gifts beyond what the school systems allow in a community of their peers. You can help a child build their cultural identity in a safe, supportive place while building the bridges for a brighter Rondo community.

LinkedIn: UST Alumni Group

Your experience still matters, and students are ready to learn from it.

Maxfield Elementary in the Rondo community is seeking UST alumni to lead Enrichment Clusters: short, community-led learning experiences where kids explore their interests beyond the traditional classroom.

Whether your background is in education, business, the arts, health care, or something you discovered after graduation, this is a chance to:

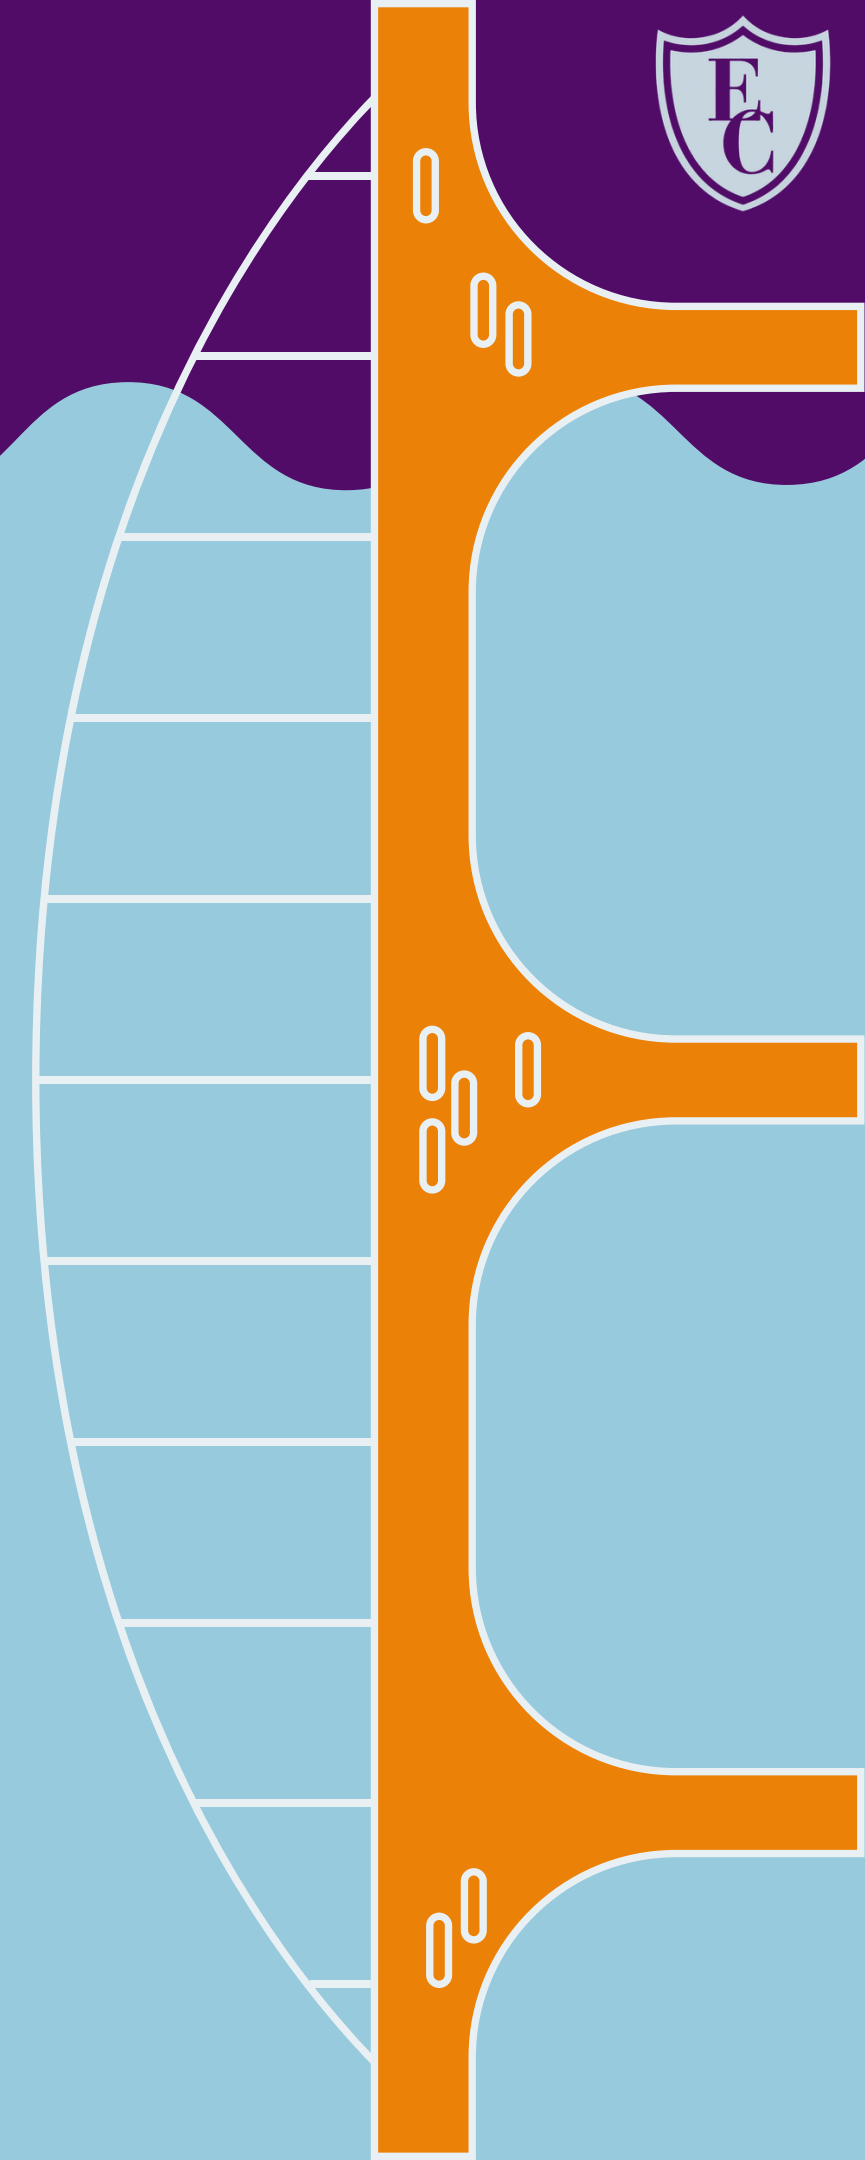

- Share real-world experience with curious students
- Reconnect with the UST mission of the common good
- Build confidence and cultural pride in the next generation
- Give back without a long-term or full-time commitment

This isn't traditional volunteering.

It's bridging generations and showing students what's possible by seeing someone who's been where they are and gone further.

Flexible schedules. Clear structure. Real impact.

UST DELIVERABLES

LinkedIn: UST Official Account:

At St. Thomas, educating for the common good extends beyond campus.

The University of St. Thomas is partnering with Maxfield Elementary in the Rondo community to support their Enrichment Clusters program, connecting UST students and alumni with meaningful, hands-on leadership opportunities in local schools.

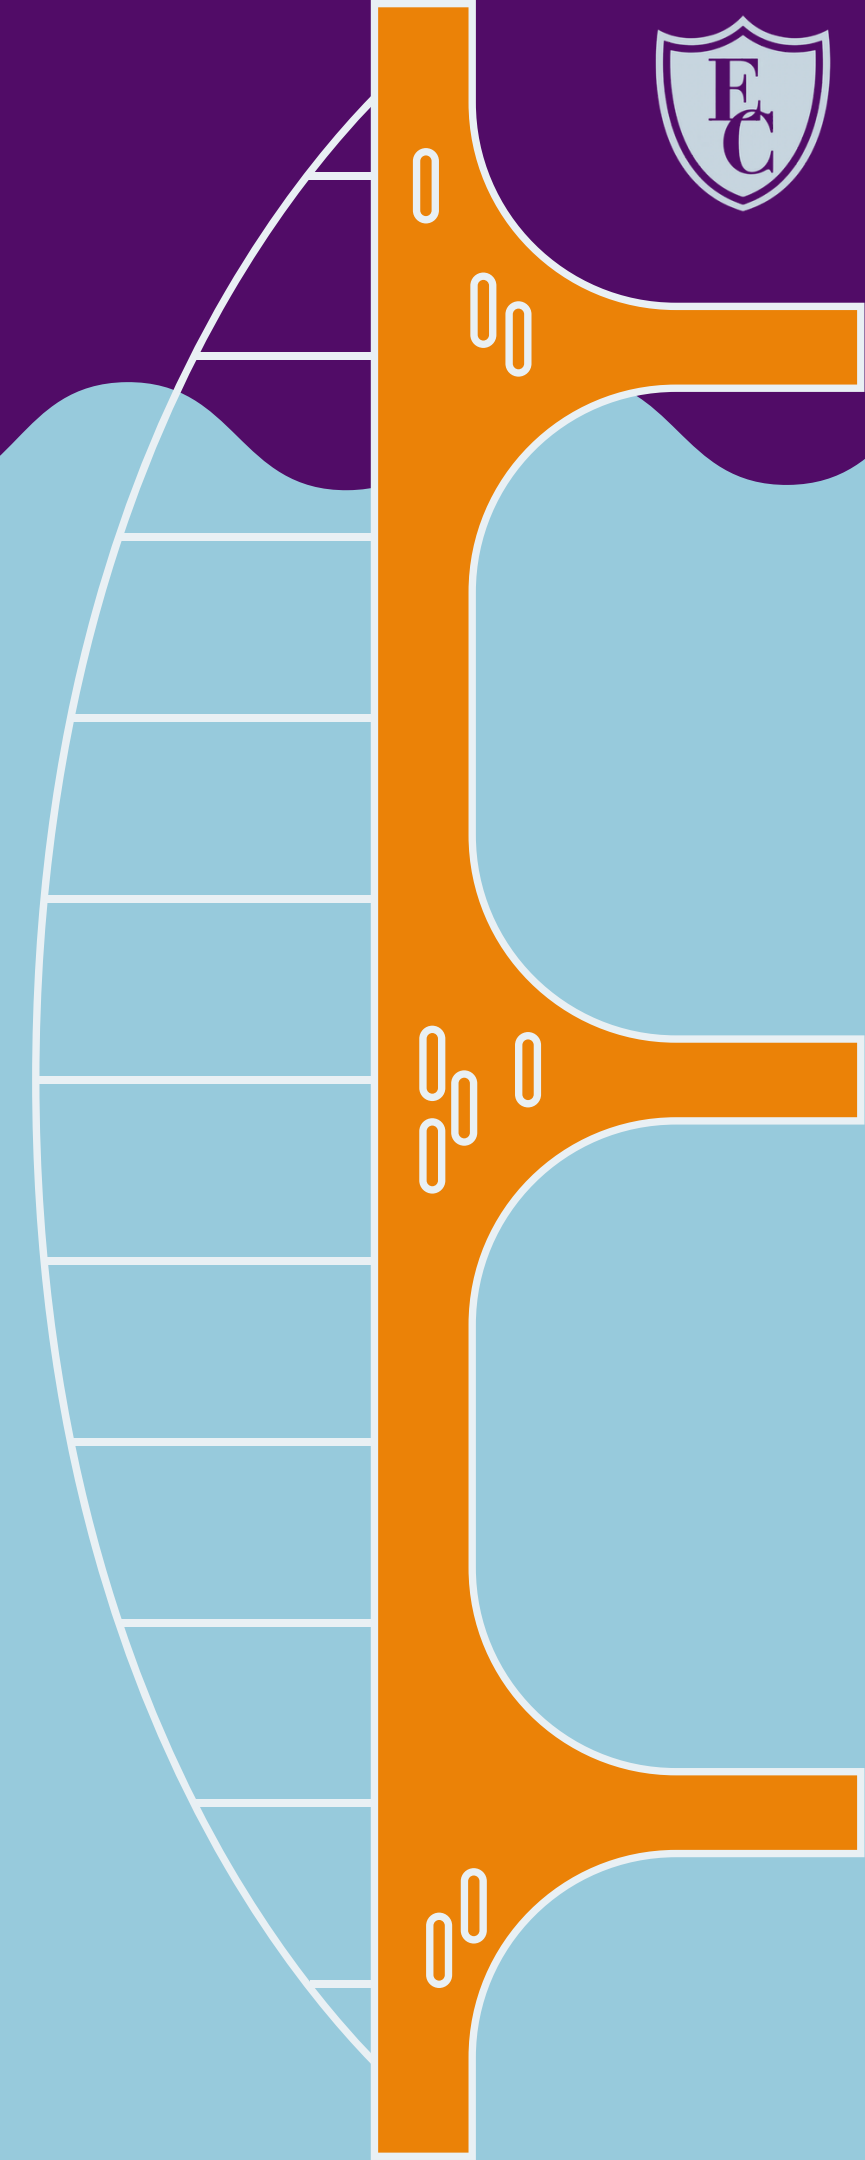

Enrichment Clusters are passion-based learning experiences where leaders guide elementary students as they explore skills and interests that aren't always possible in traditional classrooms.

Through this partnership:

- UST participants gain real leadership and teaching experience
- Students build confidence, curiosity, and identity
- Communities are strengthened through shared learning

This initiative reflects what it means to bridge learning to life, advancing educational equity while preparing future leaders rooted in purpose.

If you're looking for flexible hands-on experience within a school, then teach at Maxfield Elementary in Rondo County as an enrichment leader in their Enrichment Clusters program. Teach the kids about your special skills, major, or just anything that keeps you sane outside of UST. You would be a part of the common good by building bridges for yourself AND underprivileged children toward a brighter future.

We're all here for the common good, but college is often a selfish time. You're learning about where you want to fit in the world and pursuing that with passion. Maxfield Elementary has an opportunity to help you in that pursuit AND further the common good. Enrichment Clusters are where you can get hands-on experience in teaching children about what you want, and the best part is, they want to learn from you!

Maxfield is looking for enrichment leaders to teach these Clusters and UST students like you have first dibs.

PARENTS DELIVERABLES

Parent Email:

Dear Maxfield Families,

At Maxfield Elementary, we believe every student has something special to offer, and sometimes, they just need the right space to show it. That's why we created our Enrichment Clusters program.

We are currently looking for parents and guardians to lead enrichment clusters, and you don't need to be an expert or a teacher. If you have a hobby, a skill, or something you simply enjoy, you already have something valuable to share. Your involvement can make a real difference, not just for your child, but for many others.

When parents participate, students feel more supported, more confident, and more excited to come to school. It's also a great way to connect with other families and be part of building a stronger Maxfield community.

Interested in leading a cluster?

We offer flexible scheduling and support to help you get started.

Maxfield Elementary wants your child to feel built up when attending school here. We understand the traditional ways education is done doesn't always allow your child to shine as bright as you see them, so we're creating the Enrichment Clusters program to give them a community to shine in. Every week your child can choose what talent they want to explore, but we need someone like you to lead them that is why we're asking for your talents. Being an enrichment leader at Maxfield Elementary will build your students cultural identity at a safe school with a community who sees how bright your child truly is.
